[Boston, October 10, 2013] – DocBridge® Pilot 3.0 Simplifies Configuration of Input Channels

Compart is bringing its latest release to the market: DocBridge® Pilot 3.0 The high-performance solution to IT-supported execution of technically complex document processing jobs (modification/conversion, bundling, output on all digital and physical channels, etc.) stands at the ready with graphical configuration of input channels. Setup of input processing jobs is easier and quicker – simply drag and drop – allowing even users without extensive programming knowledge to configure new processes. Also new are the predefined templates for implementing white paper production as well as closed-loop output management (OM) processes. The new version features greatly improved performance thanks to automatic binary processing of AFP and PDF files.

And not only that: DocBridge® Pilot 3.0 has a new web interface that is even more finely tuned to a company's typical OM processes. It affords production managers a better overview of jobs, allowing them to react more quickly in the event of errors or disruptions. All operations status data are neatly organized for display on the intuitive-to-use dashboard. Mailings and documents can be filtered according to various criteria at the click of a mouse, giving operators greater process control. Overall the new web interface ensures much easier handling of the typical day-to-day processes in output management. The new version also offers an automatic reprint option.

DocBridge Pilot® 3.0 is now available in English, French and German.
